

Today, the 10th RMPP participants visited the Singapore Maritime Gallery, IFC and RHCC, and also discussed MARSEC issues facilitated by renown academia!

Participants visited the Singapore Maritime Gallery to understand Singapore’s transformation into a global hub port and international maritime centre. The visit was further enhanced through sharing of interesting stories and experience by participants from the shipping industry. Participants also visited IFC and Regional HADR Coordination Centre (RHCC) to find out more their mission and objectives.

“It's good to see RMPP back after a two year hiatus due to COVID 19. We participated in the discussion of various maritime security issues (global, regional, and national) and visited the Singapore Maritime Gallery to get an overview of what is happening in the port area. I am very glad that the visit program was well organised and enjoyed it.” - Lieutenant Commander Mohammed Al Hattali, Royal Navy of Oman.

Participants exchanged perspectives and insights through syndicate discussions led by Prof Christian Bueger, to strengthen mutual understanding on MARSEC challenges faced by different maritime stakeholders.

"The visits to IFC and RHCC this morning had been very engaging and it was a pleasure so far to meet the various MARSEC practitioners from all over the world. I thoroughly enjoyed the exchanges I had. The discussion session we had this afternoon has not only allowed me to learn the perspectives of the various MARSEC stakeholders, but has also served as a platform for sharing the shipping industry's position on maritime threats." - Capt. Akash Mitra, Director HSEQ, DPA & CSO, Teekay Tankers.

Participants also benefitted from the UNCLOS presentation by Prof Robert Beckman who provided an overview of navigation rights and activities in EEZ.

"The Law of the Sea presentation by Prof Robert Beckman was very educational with real world examples and application." - Mr Vincent Lee, Senior manager, Operations Planning Division - Security Department, Maritime & Port Authority of Singapore.
